FOREWORD

*"For of the soule
The bodie forme doth take
For soule is forme
And doth the bodie make"*

Spenser

Where others dream ahead this spring, toward the summer we dream backward into the past, and a journey.

Sights, sounds, smells, all served that journey well . . . All of a summer, children played on the beaches. They were happy and friendly; as each wave swept in across the sand, the smaller ones turned their backs to the sea, and ran sensibly away.

When the water, edged with foam, drew back again, they went running after it, with an air of driving the ocean before them. But, at the next wave, they flew as before, with shrill alarm, and fresh surprise. The sun warmed their small, brown, legs and they collected with enthusiasm bits of clam shell, sand dollars, and colored stones worn from the tide. The larger children plunged into the waves like little dolphins. The water was clear and cold.

Time seems to stand still on the beaches. Only the shadows change. The shore still curves away to the south under the summer sun, a light breeze stirs the grasses on the dunes, and the shouts of children fade against the rolling thunder of the sea.

The college years are akin to those spent by the sea, we gather, we seek, we are refreshed by the language of learning. But, there is something more, there is an indecision, as the shore becomes too familiar, and we look to the horizon.

It takes navigating to get out into the bay, through the narrow channel; tide and wind both have to be right.

There is the rip tide . . . there are dark walls, the shining shoals hide murky marvels . . . there is the wind that rattles the sails and the turbulent tumult of loneliness . . . alone . . . there is no other way to reach the fruition of desire . . . when an ideal is the pediment of the structure of identity and truth . . . It is a struggle against innumerable odds, through dark, through rough winds and heavy seas.

The hurricane lashes, the skies tremble with the rumble of thunder . . . grey, green dark, the sea rises . . . the sails are lashed . . . turning back is difficult, turning back is the death of the soul . . . one can never go back completely to the idyl that is past . . . one must go on . . . through the dark . . .

. . . and then . . . there is LIGHT . . .

Alma Mater

Oh, Alma Mater dear, thy name we praise,
Our voices love-inspired to thee we raise,
And we will cherish thee in days to come,
And think with loving hearts of Emerson.

Yours is the highest art, a shining goal,
You are the star of each and every soul,
And all thy children's hearts they beat as one.
We love thee, Alma Mater, Emerson.

Dedication

As Seniors our voices shall thin to a remembered whisper in these corridors. We must speak with new tongues the language of responsibility. We look forward to a future of fulfillment, in which we will give proof of our dedication to the truths which justify our lives. Looking backward, we remember those whose guidance strengthened and channeled our aims.

"A college," someone said, "is a library through which the student is led by a guide, the professor." This is the man we pause to remember now. He has taught us the value of knowledge, and shown us how to shape and express the thoughts that well within us. Through stimulating conversation with him, he has given us proof of the life that seethes through the printed page, and of the imagination and drive which are necessary to put this power into action on the stage, or in discussion. His knowledge and friendly manner have never been confined strictly to the classroom. He is always ready to discuss, to listen, to advise, always maintaining an interest in the well-being of his students, which goes beyond the present members of his classes and extends to both the past and the future. It is with the deepest appreciation and respect, that at this time we wish to say a word of thanks to him for all that he has done for us both individually, and as the Class of 1959. It is with humility and gratitude that we dedicate our year-book to LEO NICKOLE.

and
ADMINISTRATION

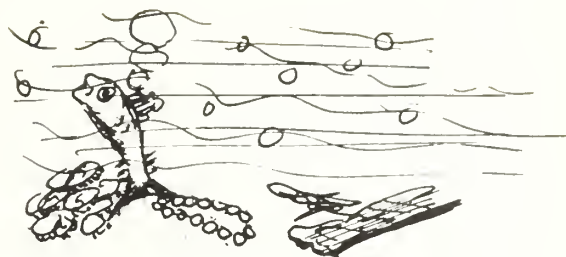

DR. MC KINLEY

Leadership is a quality of ephemeral explanation. It defies analysis, it is a quality tinged with reverence, justice, insight, initiative, and understanding. The leader of the educational world must combine these qualities with high intellectual standards, and sincere appreciation of his responsibilities to the acolytes who seek succor in the stream of knowledge. We of the class of 1959 are privileged to say that we have had as our President a man with these and many more remarkable qualities. These qualities show him in a manifold position as a Leader and a Professor.

To Dr. McKinley and his winsome wife, Mrs. McKinley, we offer thanks for their concern, their understanding, and the warmth of their regard for our progress and enlightenment.

GRADUATE ASSISTANTS

A living plant must always put forth new shoots that show its life and continue its life. A school is this way too. And as with a plant, some of the new shoots of a school stay too close to their point of nurture, to receive more knowledge, and also to pass on knowledge within the mother-fold, to strengthen the parent plant. Our graduate assistants gave and received, and this inestimably.

DR. RICHARD PIERCE
Dean of Emerson College

The embodiment of the Renaissance man, intellectual, wry, and understanding. The present Dean of Emerson College is an able and agreeable Instructor, a dedicated purveyor of the ideals of learning, and friend.

"Calm was the sea to which your course you kept, oh, how much calmer than all the Southern Seas!"

George Santayana

MRS. RUTH SOUTHWICK MAXFIELD
Dean of Women

Each student is a product of the instructor, who has guided him through the myriad paths of learning. The culmination of this guidance is the moulding of the imaginative and creative mind. These guides through the mazes of literature, learning, and life need special attributes. In the educational framework, they need a sincere and frank warmth, insight, and understanding. Mrs. Ruth Southwick Maxfield meets these qualifications.

JOHN HOWARD AHLIN
Dean of Men

What is the human? Beyond dispute, a complex being . . . the understanding of which is a many-faceted web of incongruities, and a rarely attained goal. To the searching and confused mind, caught in the whirlwind of new experience and educational enlightenment and or disheartenment, much counsel is needed. The man who offers this counsel must have a candour and strength of character, and a kindness, untinged by fraud or hypocrisy. Above all, he must be a friend, Mr. John Howard Ahlin combines all these desired facets as educator and guide.

ZETA PHI ETA

Zeta Phi Eta, the National Professional Speech Arts Fraternity for Women, is headed by Mary Connors. They sponsored the traditional Zeta Work Week on November 10th to the 14th at which time they were willing to help anyone with many numerous jobs. At Home Coming, they held a tea for returning sorority sisters. They also took part in the annual Pan-Hellenic Tea on November 2. A new project initiated this year was the selling of coffee and sandwiches at the Theatre Arts Department rehearsals. Once again Zeta joined Rho Delt for their annual show.

RHO DELTA OMEGA

Rho Delta Omega, the local professional fraternity for men majoring in broadcasting and allied fields, is headed by Jerry Kay. Their outstanding event of the year was their Dream Girl Ball at which time they chose Anne Cavanaugh as their Queen. They participated in a very successful football season tying Phi Alpha Tau for first place.

They held their smoker on November 17.

KAPPA GAMMA CHI

Kappa Gamma Chi, the social sorority at Emerson, is headed very capably by Sarah Bernhardt. Under her leadership the sorority has had many successful events. In the first week of school they co-sponsored the Theta fair. The favorite booth was one made up of throwing darts at balloons filled with water. No one who attended will ever forget the wetting that Dr. Bender got at the hand of Dr. McKinley. On October 23, Kappa held its annual auction at which time they sold everything from theatre tickets to stuffed animals. On Homecoming weekend Kappa held a tea for their returning sorority sisters.

ALPHA PI THETA

Alpha Pi Theta is a professional speech arts fraternity, organized in 1945. This year Theta carried on a varied program, opening the social calendar in September with its successful Courtyard Fair and Dance. At mid-year holiday time their Card Sale proved profitable and enjoyable. In March the "Kap and Al" Hawaiian Party with their sister sorority, Kappa Gamma Chi, was novel and well attended. Theta also engages in varied athletic activities with the other fraternities at Emerson.

OFFICERS

President, Dotty Geotis; Vice-President, Sue Reisinger; Secretary, Joan Whitney; Treasurer, Ricki Schiffrin.

PHI MU GAMMA

The Alpha Chapter of Phi Mu Gamma was founded at Emerson College in 1921. A national speech arts sorority, Phi Mu stands for the intelligent advancement of the arts. Its members at Emerson take part actively in all the various events in the social and academic calendar at the college, along with maintaining a full program that membership in a sorority entails. The brother fraternity of Phi Mu is Phi Alpha Tau.

PHI ALPHA TAU

Phi Alpha Tau, the National Honorary Speech and Dramatics Fraternity for Men, is headed this year by George Earley. The outstanding events of the year were the hayride and the carol-sing, both annual events of the college. The carol-sing, held on December 17, was followed with a wonderful buffer supper at the home of Dr. and Mrs. McKinley. Tau had a very successful football season which ended in a tie for first place with Rho Delta Omega. On November 15, they held their traditional smoker.

Soft Ball Team

"Jump Ball!"

Due to many unfortunate factors, the "Purple Panthers" had a poor basketball season. Lack of practice and the resignation of their coach in mid-season were two insurmountable factors causing the team to run up a 3 win-8 loss record; their worst in many seasons.

However the season wasn't a total loss. The team was well coached by athletic director, Paul McKeown and they were a high spirited ball club. The cheerleaders gave a great deal of their time to rooting the team on, and they were greatly appreciated.

This year, John Goodwill, a transfer from Bates College in Maine, was the high scorer, averaging close to 25 points a game. John will be back next year as co-captain with Ed Titus. John was also the recipient of the Most Valuable Player Award.

Co-Captains

Pre-season predictions for the baseball team were that it would be a re-building year for the "Panthers". Last year Emerson showed a great deal of talent in their games and came out with 4 wins against 4 losses. The team should improve this record a great deal because of their strong pitching staff which includes Bob Yacawych, Gerry Kay, and new comer Paul Bissonette. The infield will be bolstered by Dick Burton, Ed Reinsdorf, Al Savage, and Jack Pierce; while the outfield will have Bill St. James, and Dick Johnson snagging the ball. The outlook for the team this year is excellent.

"You bet we'll have a winning team!"

Pajama Game

You, then, that would the comic laurels wear,
To study nature be your only care.
Whoe'er knows man, and by a curious art discerns the hidden secrets of the heart;
He who observes, and naturally can paint
The jealous fool, the fawning sycophant,
A sober wit, an enterprising ass,
A humorous Otter, or a Hudibras,—
May safely in those noble lists engage, and make them act and speak upon the stage."

ARTS

The Man Who Married a Dumb Wife

"But since imitators imitate those who do something, and it is necessary that these should either be worthy or depraved (for manners nearly always depend on these alone, since all men differ in their manners by vice and virtue) it is necessary either to imitate those who are better than we are, or those who are worse, or such as are like ourselves. By this very same difference, also, tragedy differs from comedy. For the one seeks to imitate worse, but the other better men than are."

Orpheus Descending

"Tragedy, therefore, is an imitation of a worthy or illustrious and perfect action, possessing magnitude, in pleasing language, using separately the several species of imitation in its parts, by men acting, and not through narration, through pity and fear effecting a purification from such like passions. But by pleasing language, I mean language possessing rhythm, harmony, and melody. And it uses separately the several species of imitation, because some parts of tragedy are alone perfected through meters, and others again through melody."

Love for Love

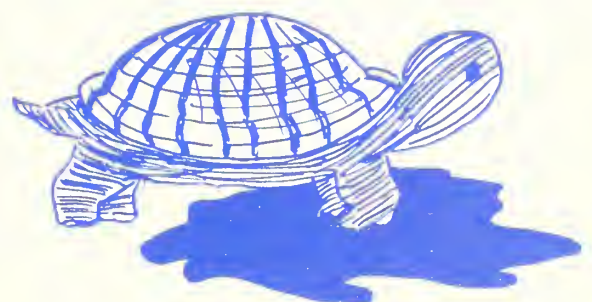

"The comic wit, born with a smiling air,
Must tragic grief and pompous verse
forbear;
Yet may he not, as on a market-place,
With bawdy jest amuse the populace.
With well-bred conversation you must please,
And your intrigue unravelled be with ease;
Your action still should reason's rules
obey,
Nor in an empty scene may lose its way.
Your humble style must sometimes gently rise,
And your discourse sententious be and wise,
The passions must to nature be confined,
And scenes to scenes with artful weaving joined."

CASTING

W.E.R.S. Radio and Closed Circuit Television offered a vivid panorama of the performing arts with worthwhile and well-chosen dramatic, and factual material. Through the facilities of closed circuit television, the biographies of many leading men and women in the arts, as well as in politics, have been offered. Plays such as "The Devil And Daniel Webster" by Stephen Vincent Benet, "Crime In The Streets" by Reginald Rose, and the Children's Play "Cinderella" have been offered. All of these represent strides and improvements in the technical and creative imagination employed with this comparatively young medium. Imagination and creativity seem to have been the keynote for the year's production activities.

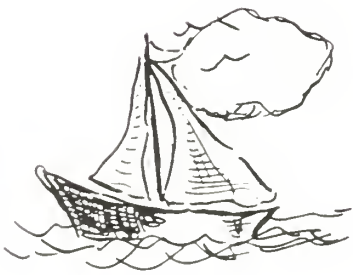

This year was a successful one for the Broadcasting Department. The scope and dimension of the programming offered was an immense achievement in furthering the educational advantages of the department. This year W.E.R.S. put into its program a policy of interviewing people of note in politics, science, religion, and the arts. These interviews contributed immensely to student understanding of problems in contemporary government, theory, and Theology, as well as the Theatre Arts. Among the leading personalities interviewed were Governor Furcolo and Pat Suzuki. The programming of such interviews adds a wealth of background understanding to students who are interested in today's world.

DEPARTMENT

"Now, say it after me."

"Look what's on the agenda for next week!"

Practice Makes Perfect.

"Wow, are we good!"

The mind needs stimulus, and argumentation or debate has since Classic times been a means for sharpening the organizational procedures of the mind. Emerson College's Debate Society combines highest standards of organizational procedure and the highest intellectual qualities. The Debate Society has proved itself in many contests, in some of which it may not have been the victor, but it has never been the vanquished.

"Hum, so that's the way it's done!"

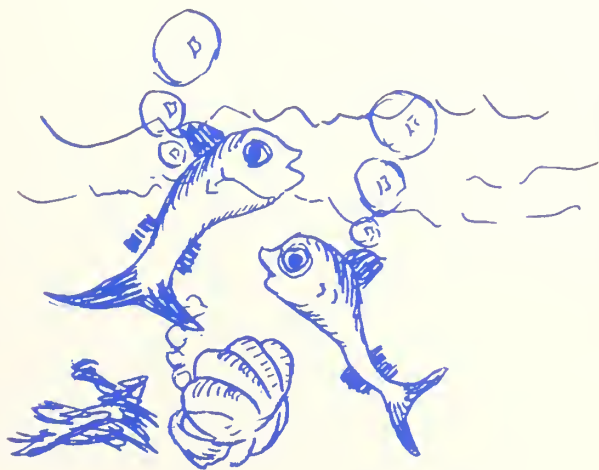

"Watch my hand carefully and see what happens."

SPEECH THERAPY

The betterment of man's communicative processes, the refinement of speech; the removal of the obstacles that block man's advancement in society, and ability to speak without fear to the rest of his confreres; the raising on high of the ideals of moulding the speaking voice into a useful and mellifluous instrument. To the directors of the Speech Clinic, and their student aids, progress is tantamount.

"Now where did I put that thing?"

BERKELEY BEACON

Emerson is hardly inactive in the literary sphere. Two publications represent the collective literary achievements of the student body: one in drama, prose, and poetry Scribe, our magazine published quarterly, featuring material submitted by students, the faculty, and occasionally guest authors; and the other in the realm of news coverage for events in and around the College, the Berkeley Beacon, which is edited and staffed by the student body.

SCRIBE

SUMMER SCHOOL

Mr. John W. Zorn
Director of Summer School

Emerson College's Summer Session offers a training ground for Educators, College Students, and an introductory taste of higher learning for High School Students. Under the leadership of Mr. John W. Zorn, the Summer Session has proved successful in maintaining the Emerson standard that "From out the soul, the body form doth take, for soul is form and doth the body make."

NIGHT SCHOOL

Mr. William B. Spink
Director of the Night School

The College offers courses in its Evening and Extension Division in the fall and spring semesters; these courses allow college credit to secondary school graduates and may be applied toward degree requirements. Among their endeavors for this year was a production of "See How They Run" directed by John Chase.

MONTAGES

CLASS WILL

We, the members of the Senior Class of Emerson College in the city of Boston, County of Suffolk, and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, do ordain and establish this to be our last will and testament. Having spent all our copeks that we might receive our degrees, signed by the proper authorities, we leave the following items to our successors. Use them wisely.

Dick Fuchs leaves his baggy pants to Jerry Cole.

Jerry Andelman leaves a Castration Complex to Dr. Thass.

Len Seyfarth leaves the "water buffalo" to Frank Silverman.

Andy Guthrie leaves to Emerson College, serenity and tranquility unknown there during his stay.

Lilat leaves the Costume Room to the mice.

Ruth Silverman leaves Marge Cutler and Marlene Ricitello peace and quiet.

David Greenberg leaves his little "green-book" to an ambitious Freshman.

Ricki Schiffrin leaves the house she has been running to Polly Weiss.

Peter MacLean leaves center stage.

Renee Florsheim leaves on her wedgies.

Ellen Barnes leaves the keys of the Kappa House to Sam Beaulieu.

Mary Roberts leaves her collection of rubber ducks to Louis Lopez-Cepero.

Susanne Reisinger leaves "100 Famous Stories" to Scribe.

The Darnas leave a Freshman to the Class of 1977.

Michael Daughn leaves a Map of Ireland to Horace Reynolds.

Jerry Boyne leaves a term paper for Mr. Guise.

Brenda Wolfe leaves her collection of pocket-books to any strong person.

Linda Freedman leaves "the Closet" to anyone ambitious and/or amorous enough to want it (with Frank's permission)!

Rudy Butterfield leaves Storyville to Mary Bookstore.

Norm Carmel leaves his radiating equipment to Mr. Wilder.

Barbara Hatounian wills the privilege of licking all the stamps and envelopes to the Public Relations Office and Mr. Van Riper.

Pat Grier leaves a hopeful Freshman her fraternity pin in exchange for a gold band.

Diana Charles leaves her complete library of André Gide to Barry Mandel.

Roz Rappaport leaves her Bermuda Shorts to anyone else who will wear them in freezing weather.

Gail Cohn leaves for "Redhead" with some changes to replace Gwen Verdon.

Liz Kidney leaves Phil Amato in the hands of her experienced spies and special agents.

Lois Colitz leaves to become the White Rock Girl.

Sarah Bernhardt leaves a little white rose to the Theatre Arts Department.

Anne Covington leaves her well-worn Chaucer text and illuminated manuscripts to an uninformed, but scholarly minded, unsuspecting, Freshman.

Sandra Goldin leaves to understudy Gertrude Berg.

Ray Dempsey leaves Dr. Bender alone — at last.

Harvey Skolnick leaves his big Jewish nose to Jeanne Healy.

Gordon R. Laite leaves his PROBE program to Bob Yachowitch.

Dom DiMascio leaves by special request.

Linda Keery leaves her role as "Emerson's answer to the mother-casting problem" to a deserving Freshman.

Don Moran leaves his well-worn sneakers to Carl Schmider.

David Dunn leaves his savoir-de-monde to Richie Glass.
 Sam Dress leaves fancy free, single and determined.
 J. "Gus" Wolinsky leaves his oversized Blue Chariot to anyone who can afford to support it.
 George E. Early leaves his seat in the Emerson Cafeteria to Howard Schwartz.
 Anne Cohen leaves her engagement ring to Rose Khedouri.
 John Garfi leaves ignominiously.
 Dotty Geotis leaves her orthopedic oxfords and character roles to any aspiring Agnes Gooch.
 Dick Kilfoyle leaves his "top drawer" to Meredith Russell.
 Rochelle Kaplan leaves her blonde hair to Debbie Lazow.
 David Herschberg leaves by special courtesy of Ajax.
 Peter Greenhill leaves in Michael Winston's car.
 Bev Ghostlaw leaves the stairs in 126 to Gwen Schlieff.
 Harry Morgan leaves all the scenery to whomever.
 Robert Harris leaves his laugh to the Sound Effects Department.
 Laura Jean Mashrick leaves the Ladies Lounge to Bunny Brinkley.
 Joan Silva leaves W.E.R.S. Radio & T.V. To the Big 3: Bill, Steve & Richie
 Louis Iacoviello leaves happily.
 Dick Johnson leaves the Turks Head to Kenny Linden (baum?)
 Ralph LaDestro bequeathes his Soc courses and "Doomsday Book" to Bob Cassidy.
 Marge Larson leaves behind Marge Graham.
 Bill St. James leaves the Shubert cloakroom to Paul John Austin.
 Mary Connors leaves her Master Debate Book to Peter Whitten.
 Nancy Lovett leaves with punctured tires, we hope!!!
 John Ely leaves his magnificent singing voice to Michael Winston who needs it.
 Yvonne Noel leaves a registrant for Mr. Nickerson.
 George Peters leaves his taxi-cab to the Prop Department.
 Roberta Spekin leaves her ability to remain inconspicuous to Dixie Lee Vogels.
 Mort Salowitz leaves after four record-breaking years in the Cafeteria.
 Michael Williams leaves the apple he has been polishing to charity.
 Jan Sebastian leaves what Sue Resinger wanted to leave to Barbara Sargent (???)
 Steve Segal leaves his raccoon coat to Thracian.
 Jane Sperberg leaves the T.V. set in 303 Berkeley to lovers of culture.
 Gail Stratton leaves her rabbit to Margot Laing.
 Alice Fisher leaves her "deStachl" complex to Pinky Smith.
 Ed Sylvester leaves his voice to the Speech Department.
 Anita Verbeke leaves a half-eaten Chinese orange to expire.
 Peter Schachte leaves all five Lever Brothers to Polly Weiss.
 Marv Ziskin leaves a Children's Series Based on "Lolita" to W.E.R.S. Radio.
 Barry Asch leaves a 15 million inch lens to the TV department.
 John Tuohy leaves his rhinoceros to Sandy Rella.
 Allan Savage leaves the Basketball Team to Sheilah Gillin.
 Marv Tabolsky leaves his collection of early Ante-bellum madrigals to Mr. Pettit.
 Robert McHaffey leaves his filing cabinet EMPTY!!!!
 Drawn, signed and delivered this twenty-fourth of February in the year of our Lord, one thousand, nine hundred fifty nine, within the confines of Emerson College, Boston, Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
